Dynamiq's 39-metre Jetsetter has been island-hopping and race-spectating at the America's Cup

Among the superyachts watching the action at the America's Cup this month is the 39-metre Dynamiq Jetsetter, which launched last year. The yard says that with her shallow draught, long range and efficient hull design, she is ideal for island-hopping in a place like Bermuda. Dynamiq has been selected as one of the official supporters of the America's Cup.

The Dynamiq Jetsetter is the yard's debut yacht and she packs in plenty of pedigree, with naval architecture from Vripack, Azure and Van Oossanen for the hull form, RINA classification, and an interior by Bannenberg & Rowell. Offering a top speed of 21 knots, a range of 3,000 miles and a draught of less than 1.75 metres, the all-aluminium Jetsetter is Dynamiq's translation of GT car philosophy into yachting – the yard has dubbed the range 'GTT' for 'Gran Turismo Transatlantic'. She sleeps ten guests and six crew.
