Dynamiq launches 38.60m aluminium motor yacht Jetsetter | YachtNews

yachtnews

Dynamiq has recently announced the launch of the first D4 motor yacht, Jetsetter. She represents the first yacht of its “Grand Turismo Transatlantic” series, whose purpose is to convey the philosophy of Grand Touring cars in the nautical field, offering performance, luxury and range.

This 38.60m aluminum vessel features exterior styling by Dobroserdov Design, while the interior design, which sports select furnishings and accessories from Trussardi Casa, was conceived by the London-based studio Bannenberg & Rowell.

On board, Jetsetter offers accommodation for up to 8 guests in four cabins, as well as six crew members in spacious quarters.

With a hull developed by Azure Naval Architects and optimized by hydrodynamic specialists Van Oossanen, she boasts a highly efficient shape with a vertical stem.

Equipped with two MAN V12-1800 1,324kW diesel engines and Fortjes 4000 pod drives with contra-rotating propellers, Jetsetter combines a maximum speed of 21 knots with a remarkable 3,000nm range at 10 knots.

Dynamiq has also announced that it has already started the construction of the first unit of the D3 yacht model. This new 35m all-aluminium, semi-displacement motor yacht will be introduced to the public in 2017.

Jetsetter will be displayed at the upcoming Monaco Yacht Show.
