THE interior of the £12million Porsche superyacht has been revealed with a stunning list of luxury options.

Just seven of the 115ft boats will be built with huge top decks featuring a sunbathing area, jacuzzi, bar and 75-inch TV.

There's also an alfresco dining room, barbecue zone and cushions trimmed in fabric from the latest Porsche 991R.

Inside there's a dining room with high-end cutlery and plates - plus a Lazy Susan and more gigantic TV screens.

The lounges come with luxurious sweeping sofas and carpets made from silk and wool with an iconic Porsche houndstooth pattern.

The marble kitchen and bathrooms wouldn't look out of place in a five-star hotel with double sinks and glass showers.

And there's even a front garage that stores a 15ft dinghy-style boat and jet ski in case you want to explore the open waters.

Glass made by Italian specialists who supply Bentley, McLaren, Mercedes and BMW keep cabins silent.

And you'll be sure to sleep in comfort with the sumptuous beds - while a built-in coffee machine will perk you up in the morning.

The boat has been designed to cater for a maximum of 12 people - six passengers and six crew members.
